President's Message

Mary Branca

Dear Quilting Friends,

As we move into the holiday season, I want to thank each of you for being part of our quilting guild. Our guild is strongest when we work together, share our talents, support one another, and contribute our time and ideas. The support you show our guild in so many ways is truly helping us as we continue to right-size our budget. Our proposed 2027 Budget will be presented for your vote at the November meeting. I appreciate the questions and comments that you gave me at our October budget presentation.

In February we will do a Budget Actuals presentation and a year in review so we can see what we accomplished together in 2026. Let's continue working together to ensure our guild thrives for years to come!

As the year comes to a close, please also consider making a year-end tax-deductible donation to our guild, if you are able. Your generosity helps support our programs, activities, and the future of our guild. Donations can be sent to our Treasurer at our post office box or handed to her in person at our meetings. Your donations of any size can also be earmarked for particular programs or activities if you desire. That will ensure that your giving goes directly to the program you wish to support or can be just to the guild in general to use as needed. We pledge to be good stewards of your generosity.

Thank you for all you do and for the friendship, creativity, and community you bring to our guild. Wishing you a warm and happy Thanksgiving filled with gratitude and, of course, a little time for quilting!

Warmly,

Mary Branca, President

November 9 — Carolina Oneto

Lecture: The Power of Color Composition by ZOOM

In November, we're delighted to welcome Carolina Oneto on Zoom for an inspiring look at The Power of Color Composition.

COLOR is an important element in art, understanding how to use it can be a strong tool to create contrast, balance, focal point, and many other important principles when it is time to compose your own work.

Carolina is an internationally exhibited modern quilter and instructor whose work has appeared at major quilt festivals around the world, including QuiltCon, Quilt Week, the Festival of Quilts in Birmingham, and the European Carrefour du Patchwork. Originally trained as an engineer, she discovered quilting while living in Buenos Aires, where she studied with renowned Argentinian quilters and began exploring a wide range of techniques. Carolina continues to refine her craft through ongoing study, including annual classes at QuiltCon and coursework in color theory. Now based in São Paulo, she teaches quilting and design through live and on-demand online classes.

LOCATION CHANGE FOR NOVEMBER MEETING!

The live presentation of this Zoom meeting will be presented at the Guild Meeting - at a new location:

Workshop Updates

Carolina Oneto — November 8

On November 8, 2026, we are happy to have Carolina Oneto who will be teaching “Curves and Transparencies.” Join us for a fun and skill-building “technique” workshop where you will explore how color, value, and fabric selection work together to create striking transparency effects in your quilts. In this workshop, participants will make a mini quilt top designed from scratch. Carolina will introduce key concepts in color theory and explore how transparency effects can be created through color and fabric choices. She will also teach how to cut fabric with complex shapes and join curved pieces by machine.

You won't want to miss this workshop--it's full of new skills and fresh inspiration for your next project!

Carolina is coming to us live from Brazil for this interactive Zoom workshop. If you've never taken a Zoom workshop from home, you'll love how convenient and fun this is!

Workshop Details

This workshop will be held on Sunday, November 8, 2026, from 10 am to 2:30 pm, and the cost is \$50. This is quite a bargain compared to her class at Empty Spools for $1600!

January 2027 — Edyta Sitar

In January we're starting off the new year with a bang by offering a workshop with Edyta Sitar! She's fun, inspiring and has a magical way of turning even tricky techniques into, “Oh! I can totally do that.”

The project for Edyta's class is her “Winter/Summer Village” table-runner, available in two color ways. This is based on her beautiful quilt of the same name. You will love creating these charming house blocks in this fun and informative class. Students will make a total of three houses in class and learn the technique to finish an entire village.

There is a mandatory kit fee of $60 payable at the time of sign-ups.

This includes fabric for the table runner, binding, backing and a pattern for the table runner. You will receive your kit at the workshop. So there is no pre-preparation. Edyta will guide us through her techniques for cutting, piecing, trimming, pressing and the finishing touches for your quilt. At the time of sign-ups, please indicate if you would like the Summer or Winter kit. Edyta will also have kits for the whole quilt available in person for a $20 discount.

Workshop Details

The class will be held on Sunday, January 10, 2027, at the Cypress Park Community Center, 255 Visions, Irvine, CA 92620, from 10am to 4pm. The cost of the class is $60.

Sign up for the workshop by contacting Gail Larderuccio by email, text or in person at the November guild meeting.

2027 Quilt Challenge

IT'S TIME FOR OUR NEXT GUILD CHALLENGE!

That's right, we are starting our next challenge and here is a wealth of information about it!

THEME: The theme of our challenge is "Mothers of Nature: Inspired by Nature, Stitched with Love." We are looking for quilts that depict a "critter" as a mother with its' young. We love the idea of Motherly Love as shown in the Animal Kingdom and we are looking for quilts that depict this. Also, since the challenge quilts will be shown in May of 2027, it is a way to honor Mother's Day!

IDEAS: We also like this theme because there are many readily available patterns that depict Mother animals with their young. In fact, Trudy Cleveland has a Pinterest page that shows many of these and they can be used by anyone as a pattern or source of inspiration. This page is found by going to this Pinterest Page: Username: @tclevelandrdh, Board: Challenge Motherly Love

IT'S EASY TO PARTICIPATE: This challenge is ideal for anyone! It doesn't matter if you are a piecer or an appliquer or an art quilter, there are plenty of readily available patterns and images that can be used for the quilt. We chose this theme partly in the hope that it would inspire more members to participate.

We also have three challenge fabrics that coordinate well, no specialty fabrics required and no embellishments required.

- What is required? Requirements are listed below:
 - Guild Member and bought a packet for $15
 - Use the 3 challenge fabrics in the top, minimum 1 inch square, not in binding
 - Can use reverse side of fabric
 - One or more flying geese units on top, in fabric, not just in stitching
 - At least one fabric heart and it must be pieced or appliqued on top
 - Sleeve, label

How big does it have to be? For the first time we have 2 different size requirements, one size for quilts to be considered for AQS ULTIMATE GUILD CHALLENGE (UGC) ENTRY, and one size for quilts that don't care if they are in the UGC.

The reason for the 2 sizes: AQS has changed the UGC requirements so that all quilts submitted by a guild need to be the same size and same orientation (landscape or portrait)

2027 Quilt Challenge

Here are the 2 size requirements:

1. non-UGC quilts have the same requirements as always, width 30" to 60", length 30" to 60".
2. UGC quilts – 32" X 40", LANDSCAPE ORIENTATION

These are the additional requirements for UGC entries:

- Pay for cost of shipping if their quilt is selected, est $30 to $50
- We can photograph your quilt before the big reveal and results of judging – timing of entry to AQS show
- Also, for selection of quilts to represent the guild at the AQS UGC, we will be looking for a single central depiction of a mother animal with its' young. We will not be considering quilts made with several blocks.

JUDGING? The quilts will be professionally judged for awards.

WHEN IS IT DUE?

April 12 Guild Meeting - quilt and entry forms are due, no time extensions because we have a tight schedule for judging and AQS entry

May 10 Guild Meeting – Present the quilts!

ARE YOU INSPIRED? IF YOU DON'T USUALLY PARTICIPATE IN CHALLENGES, CHALLENGE YOURSELF TO DO THIS ONE! PACKETS ARE FOR SALE, ONLY $15, LIMITED SUPPLY!

QUESTIONS? Please ask anyone on the Challenge Committee:

2026 Auction Roundup

Sue Glass

Gratitude for Our Guild Community

Thanks to everyone who donated a quilt or boutique item or basket, and thanks to all of you who helped before and during the auction. It takes a good-sized group to make that event run, so I really appreciate everyone who showed up, signed up, and donated.

Here are some facts & figures for you

Our live auction featured 40 beautiful items. We had several really nice quilts for children that came with books, several table runners including one with witches on roller skates, and wall hangings as well as larger quilts of all sizes. The silent auction of baskets featured 25 beautiful and stuffed full baskets, all of which went home with their happy owners. The boutique had lots of items to take home for gifts, as well as a good number of quilts for the buy it now sale.

We had a great turnout with 157 paid admissions which is a big increase from previous auctions. As most of you know, Tom Stevens set up a new public Facebook page and posted most every day. This really helped spread the word about the auction. Thanks, Tom. I hope more members will join the public page so that our publicity for upcoming events like next year's quilt show can grow.

Our booth at the Bowers quilt day was also a big boost – it helped spread the word about our auction and also gave us a great opportunity to sell boutique and Buy-It-Now items. The income from sales at Bowers Day was over $1,000 and is not included in the profit from the auction itself.

After our expenses were paid, our profit from this event was $16,407.36, which is a wonderful amount and a testament to the total guild effort.

Looking Ahead

Suggestions for improvement are always welcome. Mary Branca and Cindy Hinds have already volunteered to chair the 2028 auction and would welcome your comments.

That's it for the 2026 auction. I hope that when the 2027 quilt show chair (Jennifer Rowe) comes asking for volunteers, you will all lend a hand. Thanks again to everyone who donated a quilt and/or worked at the auction.

Sew Cal Craft Studio – A Creative Space in Huntington Beach

| By Jaimee Gerard, Owner of Sew Cal Craft Studio

Sew Cal Craft Studio today - a colorful, welcoming place to craft, connect and create.

More Than a Place to Sew

My creative journey began with Teddy Bear Necessities, where I designed teddy bear patterns, sold supplies, and taught teddy bear-making classes. I quickly discovered that teaching was one of my favorite parts of the business. There was something incredibly rewarding about helping someone learn a new skill and watching the pride they felt when they finished something they had made with their own hands.

For years, I taught classes at a local craft store. During that time, I realized that what I loved most wasn't simply creating - it was bringing people together through creativity.

Then the store where I taught unexpectedly went out of business. I had a decision to make. I could find another place to teach, or I could finally create the kind of creative space I had always wished existed.

That decision became Sew Cal Craft Studio in Huntington Beach.

What originally started as my need for a classroom has grown into something much bigger: a place where quilters, sewists, stitchers and makers can come together regularly, work on their own projects, learn from talented instructors, share ideas and form genuine friendships.

A Creative Space Designed to Be Used

One thing I wanted Sew Cal to be from the beginning was different from a traditional craft or quilt shop. I didn't just want people to come in, purchase something and leave. I wanted them to stay and create.

Our fully equipped studio memberships give makers a creative home away from home. Members can bring their projects, spread out, use our workspaces and equipment, and enjoy creating alongside other people who understand why spending an entire day sewing sounds like a wonderful idea!

Fully equipped work areas give members room to sew, cut, stitch and create.

We offer both daytime and evening open studio hours, and our retail shop carries fabric, notions and a wide selection of thread. The studio is open six days a week, and you don't have to be a member to shop or take a class.

Classes are also offered six days a week and include quilting, sewing, hand embroidery, stitching, beading, mixed media, teddy bear making and many other creative arts.

Something New for Quilters

I'm especially excited about one of the newest additions to Sew Cal: Deanna Long Arm Quilting Services, now located right inside the studio.

Deanna Long has moved her computerized longarm quilting machine into Sew Cal and is offering professional longarm quilting services to the quilting community. Deanna is already an important part of our Sew Cal family. In addition to longarm quilting, she teaches quilting, sewing, stitching, mixed media, beading and children's sewing.

Having a longarm quilter working right inside the studio adds another piece to what I've always hoped Sew Cal could become - a place where makers can take a project from inspiration to completion while having resources and a creative community around them.

Sew Cal Craft Studio

Quilters and makers gather at Sew Cal Craft Studio for classes, workshops and creative time together.

Bring Your Quilt Guild or Sewing Group

We also offer studio rentals for quilt guilds, friendship groups, sewing groups and other creative organizations.

Groups can spend a day sewing together, hold a workshop or plan their own special creative event without someone having to clean out their living room or figure out where everyone is going to set up a sewing machine. And there's plenty of room to spread out - which every quilter knows is important!

The Part I Didn't Expect

As much as I love seeing all the beautiful things being made at Sew Cal, the most rewarding part of owning the studio has become something else entirely: the friendships.

I've watched members encourage one another, celebrate finished projects and life milestones, help each other through difficult times, teach each other techniques and genuinely look forward to seeing one another each week.

People often walk through our doors because they're looking for a class or a place to work on a project. What many of them end up finding is a community.

For many of us, quilting and crafting are far more than hobbies. They're our creative outlet, our relaxation, our therapy and sometimes simply our excuse to spend a few hours laughing with people we enjoy.

That's what I wanted Sew Cal Craft Studio to be - a place to Craft. Connect. Create.

We would love to welcome you - and your quilt guild - to come see what we're creating in Huntington Beach.

Zoom Update

Trudy Cleveland

At our October meeting, 20 members joined us via Zoom! We've heard from many members how much they appreciate having this option when they're unable to attend in person.

Zoom not only makes our meetings more accessible but also opens the door to speakers from around the world!

In November, we're delighted to welcome Carolina Oneto, who will be presenting to us via Zoom. Members can enjoy her presentation together at our meeting or from the comfort of home.

Our November meeting will be held at a different venue, which may bring a few unique challenges. But as quilters, we're creative, resourceful, and accustomed to making things work!

Whether you join us in person or virtually, we look forward to another wonderful meeting filled with inspiration, learning, and friendship.

Reverse Image Search in Google Photos

Find a fabric or quilt image using Google Lens

Use a saved picture to find matching images and websites. Follow this real search for the animal design with the lion and cub in the center.

Save the picture on your phone. Open Google Photos and tap the picture you want to investigate.

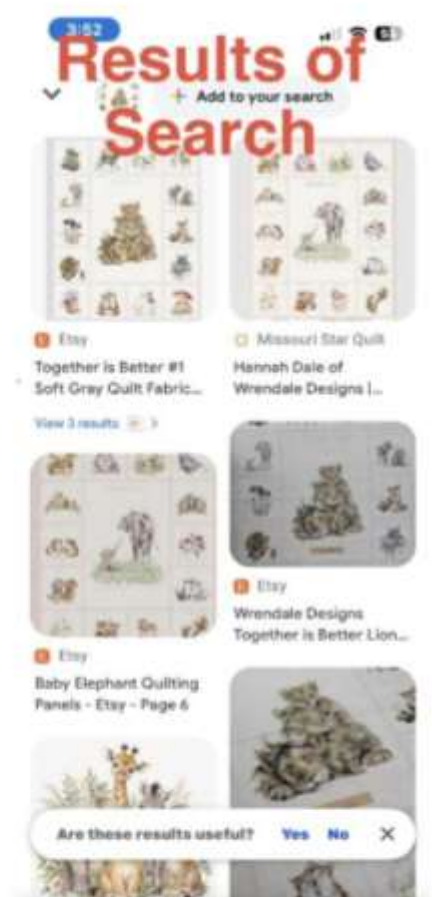

Keep the whole design selected. This example has a lion and cub surrounded by smaller animal pictures.

2 Choose Google Lens

Tap the three dots (More), then tap Google Lens, circled in the screenshot above. Some versions show Lens directly.

3 Review the results

Scroll through the matches. Tap a matching picture, then open the website to read its title and details.

What this search found

The results shown include Etsy and Missouri Star Quilt. Visible listing text gives useful clues: Together is Better, Wrendale Designs and Hannah Dale. These matches suggest a printed fabric panel; open a listing to confirm the product and designer.

Remember: A matching listing can identify a design, but it does not establish who made a particular quilt. Check the source before giving credit or reusing an image.

A Little Quilting Humor

Show & Tell

Suzanne Ward - Seatbelt Cosmetic Duo -

Made from Seatbelts (like in your car). Easy to sew on domestic machine. I'm teaching a class on October 20th at Julie's studio, Curiosity Quilt Studio.

Bretta Gunther - Pillow for Grandkids.

Kathleen Quinn - Gettysburg Stars -

I received the pattern and a variety of reproduction fabrics to make this quilt. Memories of families spending with cousins on the tour. Quilted by Trudy Cleveland.

Kathleen Quinn - Stars & Stripes

I took Arlene Arnold's workshop with O.C.Q.G. The final borders were the biggest challenge. Quilted by Tom Stevens.

Show & Tell — Continued

Dorothy Bullard - Halloween Catwalk

I bought the pattern a year ago and finished it in time for Halloween this year.

Carol Moore - Not So Scary Halloween Banner

This banner is a flannel panel. It will hang in my school library.

Carol Moore - Love You to the Moon and Back

This quilt is for my expected grandson. I wanted it large enough for baby and family tummy time. It will be given at the shower in 2 weeks.

Lori Maze - Minki Kim Workshop - 3 sizes of Zip pouches

These are great bags and it was fun learning a new way to make flying geese panels. It was hard at first, but with a little practice it turned out great!

Virtual Sew-Ins via Zoom

Join us at our Zoom Sew Ins - we want to meet you and have you meet us. You don't have to stay for the entire time, just pop in and say "hello." Our guild meetings are jam packed and don't offer much time for socializing, so this is a wonderful opportunity to get to know each other.

Flying Geese Quilt Guild continues to have "sew-in" Zoom meetings. Members sign on for whatever length of time their schedules allow. We sew, iron, and chat while we get to know each other.

We ask questions and often another quilter has an answer. We share about new tools and/or gadgets we just had to buy. Of course, we show our fabric purchases, too. It's really a fun-filled time.

We'd love to see you!

If you have questions, please call or email Mary Howland. She will host these meetings.

Mondays from 9 a.m. - 12 noon

November 2, 9, 16, 23, & 30

December 7, 14, 21, & 28

Fridays from 5 p.m. – 9 p.m.

November 13 & 27

December 11 & 18 (a week early)

December 31st - Gala New Year's Eve celebration

Please note:

The Friday Zoom session does not have as much participation as the Monday morning session. During the summer, attendance dropped, so if no one had logged on by 8:00 p.m., I would sign off.

As we move into the cooler, and hopefully wetter months, we may see more members joining us. Please join us whenever it works with your schedule. We'll be glad to see you!

Philanthropy

Mary Howland

I had a difficult time thinking of a topic to talk about this month until I thought back to Friday when the fires in San Clemente, San Juan Capistrano, and Camp Pendleton were taking place. That day, I was getting ready to leave for Santa Ana to kitty-sit a friend's cat. As I was deciding what clothes to take and other things, I became concerned about the fires and whether they would travel north to Irvine. A few years ago, I had to evacuate when there was a fire in Irvine - it was scary and other than my sewing machine and medications I wasn't sure what to take to a friend's house. When I got home, I made a couple of emergency lists and taped them inside a kitchen cupboard door, so I'd be better prepared next time. On Friday, I re-read them — and realized they weren't very helpful.

I realized that I had changed in the years since the evacuation, and my thoughts were no longer the same as they were back then. I have renters insurance, so I know there would be some coverage if a fire occurred in my apartment. But as I was walking through my home, I realized there was no way I could replace everything I own. That was a sobering thought, especially since I looked around and saw how much fabric, tools, and other sewing supplies I have. I realized that even if you gave me a day - a full 24-hour day - I don't think I could load up all of my sewing things into my car. Well, I think that's obvious that not everything would fit in my car. I think it would take several cars. In a real emergency I would need other things than fabric, rulers, etc. So, what did I learn from this? I need to review my emergency lists and update them. Then I realized that this was another reminder to downsize - give away things including my fabric stash, books, patterns, and sewing items which I wouldn't be able to use within a reasonable time. On that note I will close, but I give you permission to ask me monthly, "Have I been able to give away items so someone else could use these things now?"

Thank you to all of our members who have made holiday placemats. This coming month is the final opportunity to donate placemats for use in the upcoming holiday season. Of course, if we receive more than we need, we'll simply hold the extras for next year. So if you have kits at home that you won't be able to finish this month, please complete them when you can and bring them back once they're done. Thank you, as well, to all of our members who have sewn the many other items we donate each month.

Our next sewing day is Wednesday, November 18 at our new location at Jeanne Stone's clubhouse in Irvine. We will be there from 10am until 2pm. Please come and join us. You may bring your sewing machine and work on a project with us or come and be someone's helper and iron for them. One of the benefits of coming to the Sew Day is that you will get to see all of the quilts and other items that have been donated. You can see them up close and not have to wait until the newsletter is published.

If you have any questions or suggestions for our philanthropy, please contact Cheri Carey-Whitman. When you return items, please remember to enter your name in our monthly drawing for a $10 gift card. The drawing is held at the end of the Sew Day so if you have entered the drawing at the Guild meeting, your name could be drawn. The winner of our $10 gift certificate for October is Julie Layne. Congratulations!

I wish I could think of another way to say thank you to each and every person who helps with our philanthropy projects each month. Please know that all of your efforts are appreciated by the members of the team, our guild and by the lucky recipients of these items when they are given out by our participating organizations.

I hope to see you at our sewing day and at our monthly guild meeting. Have a good month and enjoy on whatever you are sewing.
